NARBERTH, PA., SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 20, 1926

PRICE THREE CENTS

FIRST CONCERT OF CHORAL APRIL 13

Another Will Be Given Later in the Spring—Illness Handicaps.

SEEK SESQUI SINGERS

Despite an almost unprecedented record of illness among its active members, which threatened for a time to disrupt the organization, the Main Line Choral has persevered in its work and is now concentrating on the preparation of its first spring concert of the 1925-26 season, which will be given on Tuesday evening, April 13, at a place to be announced later. In addition to this concert, the choral is planning another to be given somewhat later in the year as the final concert of its second season.

Formed largely from members of the Narberth Choral Society, the Main Line body depends on the borough for much of its support.

Residents of Main Line communities who have had the opportunity of hearing the choral in its former appearances will recall the high order of musical ability that has been disclosed on each occasion. The largest part of the work of the organization is devoted to the perfection of a capella, or unaccompanied, numbers, in which the full value of the harmonic qualities of the music, as well as of the tone qualities of the voices, is carried to the listener. Work of this nature requires infinitely more care in preparation, inasmuch as the absence of any instrumental accompaniment makes possible the detection of faulty pitch, ragged attacks and releases and other errors which would otherwise not be observed. It is the constant ambition of Director Bentz and the members of the choral to bring its productions up to the highest possible standard.

The choral active membership has been limited to 45 voices during the current season, and with the exception of the tenor parts the desired balance seems to be well established. The choral would welcome applications from tenors who desire to participate in work of this nature, and communications should be addressed to Miss Mary S. Campbell, secretary, No. 234 East Montgomery avenue, Ardmore, Pa. Applications from sopranos, altos and basses will be considered in the order in which they are received.

A number of the members of the choral will participate in the massed choruses of the Sesquicentennial Exposition in Philadelphia. Director Bentz is an active member of the general music committee for the Sesqui. In this connection, the membership limit will be disregarded, and a cordial invitation is extended to all Main Line singers to join in the Sesquicentennial work, under the auspices of the choral. Those who desire to do this should write Miss Campbell, secretary.

D. A. R. MEETS

The February meeting of the Dr. Benjamin Rush Chapter of the D. A. R., held at the home of Mrs. H. M. Chalfant, was well attended. Mrs. C. Arley Farmer presided in the absence of Mrs. Samuel Z. Shope, the Regent. After the salute to the flag and the prayer, the members sang "America, the Beautiful."

Mrs. H. G. Martin reported progress in the Prize Essay Contest work.

The Registrar reported the following new members: Mrs. Mae Aiken, Mrs. Edna Hurd, Mrs. Mary Dothard, Mrs. Arline Freeman and Mrs. Eleanor Holzkecht.

At the request of Captain Ruth H. Nash, a member of the Chapter will take a patriotic message to the meetings of the Girl Scouts.

The following persons were appointed as delegates to represent the Chapter at the Continental Congress at Washington, which will begin on April 19: Mrs. Tristan B. duMarais, Mrs. Hugh C. Martin. The alternates will be: Mrs. John C. Nash, Mrs. Joseph Miller, Mrs. W. R. O'Sullivan, Mrs. C. Arley Farmer and Mrs. Joseph Aiken.

The Chapter was invited to hold the April meeting at the home of Mrs. W. R. O'Sullivan.

MERION TITLE TO OPEN NEW NARBERTH OFFICE BUILDING NEXT SATURDAY

Handsome Structure at Narberth and Haverford Avenues the Last Word in Convenience and Utility.

The Merion Title and Trust Company on Saturday, February 27, will open their new Narberth office. The building, which has been in the course of erection for the past year, constitutes a notable addition to Narberth architecture. The Colonial design of the exterior is carried out in full detail—antique brick with carved stone trimmings.

The interior is finished in walnut and cream, the whole being lighted by a concealed light arrangement which diffuses a soft glow to every corner of the building. Upon entering through the revolving door one is ushered into the main lobby with the tellers' windows running down the left and right-hand sides of the corridor, while the modern safe deposit vault is immediately in the rear of the lobby.

To the right of the entrance is the manager's office in which Mr. William H. Fowler will hold forth and greet the many patrons of the institution. To the left of the entrance is the ladies' rest and retiring room. Its appointments are beautifully carried out and provide a comfortable rest room for women when down town shopping. A telephone has been installed there for the convenience of women patrons; for it is the bank's wish that they will make this room their stopping place while in town and make themselves wholly at home.

The floors of the lobby are of marble block and all of the woodwork and paneling is walnut, creating a very dignified atmosphere.

The vault is of the most modern construction and is equipped with the Duplex Burglar Alarm System, which means that the walls, ceiling and floor, as well as the door of the vault are entirely covered with electric wires and the slightest touch of these wires will set off the burglar alarm. Large silver storage vaults are built in the basement for the storage of bulky valuables.

Safe deposit boxes are installed in the vault to meet the needs of the community, and the company hopes that everyone having valuables of any nature whatsoever will avail himself of the safe deposit boxes which may be rented at a nominal yearly charge. At the right of the vault a commodious coupon room is built, large enough to permit all customers of the company to enter their safe deposit boxes and examine the contents thereof in absolute privacy.

Above the entrance is a large space that will be used for committee meetings and any other meetings of a public or semi-public nature.

The Merion Title and Trust Company has given to this community a banking building which is certainly one of the most beautiful that it is possible to erect, and are quite confident that there is not another banking institution of its size in the entire country that has a more complete and beautiful home than the Narberth office. They have issued an invitation to the entire community to visit the building on Saturday, February 27, at which time the officers and directors will be glad to meet visitors and escort them through the building.

FASHION SHOW FEATURE AT COMMUNITY CLUB

Women Discuss Financing of Proposed Club House.

It is a rare woman who fails to respond to the lure of a fashion show. Hence, the well-filled room at Strawbridge & Clothier's spring showing before the Women's Community Club on Tuesday was to be expected. It was worth coming to see, too; gowns, wraps, hats for evening, afternoon sports or business, suitable to all types, from the most flippant flapper to the reluctant "stylish stout." While there seemed to be nothing startlingly new in line or material, the soft shades of rose or green suggested spring most temptingly.

The discussion of plans for financing the erection of a club house proved quite as absorbing as the preceding fripperies. A bond issue and the individual pledge method were suggested as possibilities of obtaining suitable amounts promptly. In the end, the decision was left to joint action of the Board of Directors and the Executive Board.

The vote for the State flower resulted in a decided majority for the white, or ox-eyed, daisy. This expression of opinion is asked from all women's clubs in the State. If a sufficient number agree on a flower, the State Federation will ask the Legislature to make that the official flower of Pennsylvania.

Mrs. J. D. Sutherland, as hostess, served sandwiches, tea and coffee, assisted by Mrs. M. F. Alexander, Mrs. R. S. Dunne, Mrs. E. K. Bauer, Mrs. Howard Hipwell, Mrs. H. B. Speed and Mrs. P. A. Wales.

The Hospitality Committee is planning a series of card parties in the homes of its members for Friday afternoons during March. Mrs. Edgerton, 128 Chestnut avenue, is giving the first on Friday, March 5. Luncheon will be served at 1 o'clock, followed by cards. The charge is only 50 cents.

AUXILIARY MEETS

The regular monthly meeting of the American Legion Auxiliary, of the Harold D. Speakman Post, No. 356, Narberth, was held at the home of Mrs. Susan Mowrer, 200 Montgomery avenue, on Tuesday.

The auxiliary is looking forward to a large attendance at all the meetings during the ensuing year, in order to retain the cup which the increase in attendance at meetings won last year.

Plans for the year's program were discussed at this meeting.

ADDITION TO HIGH SCHOOL TO COST $325,797

Narberth Students Will Benefit by L. M. Enlargement.

Contracts totaling $325,797 for an addition to the senior high school in Ardmore were awarded Monday by the Lower Merion School Board. The letting of the contracts was authorized a month ago by the board.

The bids were opened in the office of Secretary William J. Byrnes. Wills, Bill & Company, of Philadelphia, submitted the lowest bid for the construction work. Their figures were $274,724.

The other successful bidders were N. Connelly, $27,107, for heating and ventilation work; Bullman Brothers, $11,166, for plumbing and United Electrical and Construction Company, $12,800, for the electrical work.

The addition will take the form of two wings on either side of the present building. There will be 16 new class rooms, a cafeteria and a new gymnasium. Work is to begin as soon as the weather permits.

The contracts stipulate that there is to be no interference with regular class work. Connections between the new wings and the old building will be made during the summer vacation when there are no classes. The east wing, which is to house the new cafeteria, is to be ready by the opening of school in September.

The addition will provide for 600 more pupils and will double the capacity of the high school. The new gymnasium will be given over to the boys. The present gym will then be turned over to the girls.

Lower Merion High Selecting Orator for National Contest

The Lower Merion High School has been making plans for the past ten days to select their representative for the national oratorical contest which begins March 26. The general process of elimination in the local school is now under way, the pupils having been occupied in writing their essays on the Constitution.

The local finals between the representatives of the various classes have been set for March 23, when the representative will be selected for the eastern Pennsylvania finals.

Last year the Lower Merion schools were represented by Herbert S. Slaughter, who reached the semi-finals in the contest. Slaughter is now a freshman at college, having gone there on a scholarship without examination.

CITIZENS PRAISE SCOUT MOVEMENT

Pleasing Response to Appeal For Funds to Cover 1926 Budget.

68 CONTRIBUTIONS IN

Narberth is again demonstrating one of its fine characteristics. The announcement concerning this year's program for the Boy Scouts has brought forth a hearty response from many of the residents. To date, 68 contributions have been received. These have been accompanied by words of encouragement and highest praise for the work being done by the local scout organization.

"It affords me pleasure to be able to assist you," is the way Colonel I. A. Miller, president of the School Board of the borough, began a letter accompanied by his check.

"The work of the Boy Scout organization," he said, "like that of the public schools, is right at the foundation of the future of our country. One of our prime requisites today is leadership, and I have been most happy to note the new policy you have inaugurated this year."

"By inculcating in the minds of our boys the importance of strict obedience to discipline, the value of securing a good education, ability to perform an assigned duty with due regard to health and a proper consideration for others, you are making a real contribution to Narberth."

William C. Claghorn, who is always to the fore in any local undertaking, had this to say concerning the work that is being carried on in the Scout Cabin among the boys:

"I appreciate the work which the loyal scoutmasters are doing for the boys, and also the members of the efficient committee who are giving their time and thought to the work."

"Let us hope that the members of the community will realize what an advantage it is to have the scout movement progress in Narberth."

Business Men Help.

President A. L. Marks of the Almar stores expressed pleasure at being "invited to subscribe to encourage the scout movement," which he characterized as a "worthy cause." Other comments from the business interests were to the effect that because of similar requests their appropriations "would not permit of sending more."

Acting on the invitation extended in the letter to the citizens of the borough, James Oesterle, a comparatively new resident of Narberth, dropped in at the cabin during this week's meeting on Monday evening. He was immensely impressed with the work done, taking with him an application blank for the use of his son.

ALICE MARY BYALL

Funeral services for Alice Mary Byall, wife of J. Bruce Byall, of "Oldwoods," Bryn Mawr avenue, Narberth, were held Monday morning at her residence. She died last Friday after an illness of more than a year.

Mrs. Byall was a member of the Overbrook Presbyterian Church and was active in religious, club, charitable and musical circles. Her husband and two children, Jean and Evan Byall, survive her.

THOSE RESERVATIONS

Are you going to the testimonial banquet for the firemen next Thursday night? If so, get your reservations in to Fred Patten at once.

Fine music, good speaking, many novelties and a real civic affair. These should be enough to pack Elm Hall.

FIVE CLUBS ASK FOR FRANCHISES

More Will Apply Place in Baseball League at March Meeting.

OPEN TERRITORY RULE

Five clubs made application for franchises in the Main Line Baseball League at the first meeting of that organization this year, held at the Autocar Athletic Association clubhouse in Ardmore Monday night.

These clubs were Narberth, Berwyn, Ardmore K. of C., Preston A. A., of Bryn Mawr, and Autocar A. A. The Bryn Mawr Fire Company and the Moose chapter of that community, which are contemplating joining forces to enter another Bryn Mawr team, were also represented, but made no formal application for a franchise.

Bala-Cynwyd and Paoli, members of the league last year and Wayne, an entry of last years, were unrepresented, but will in all likelihood send delegates to the next meeting of the league, which is to be held Monday evening, March 1. The place of meeting will again be the Autocar clubhouse.

Bala-Cynwyd was unrepresented because no one with authority to speak for the "twin-cities" club could be located in time for the meeting. Fred Walzer, of Narberth, who managed this club last year, was invited to attend, but Squire Fred informed President Harry J. Mosteller that he would not again manage Bala-Cynwyd this season.

Paoli and Wayne Wanted.

Paoli was also invited, but declined as it had made no formal arrangements for a team. Bill Isinger sent word that the Paoli Fire Company will possibly back an entry, but said no action could be taken until a meeting of the company this Friday evening. Wayne was also to have attended, but was absent because no steps have yet been taken by the Men's Club of that community to organize a team.

Helen Fairchild Jesse, soprano, will be the soloist with the Main Line Orchestra concert on Sunday afternoon at the Ardmore Theatre. She was a pupil of the late LeGrand Howland, of New York and Paris, also of Carl Thompson and Carl Morris.

Miss Jesse has appeared in opera in San Diego, Calif., and was soloist last year for the Music Festival in Washington, D. C. She is at present studying with Vitoric Giannini in New York.

Adolph Vogel, conductor, has arranged an attractive program of works by Rachmaninoff, Wallace, Mendelssohn, etc. Miss Jesse will sing one aria with the orchestra and a group of solos in the second part of the program. The orchestra will play Wagner's "Dreams," in memory of Augustus J. Loos, vice president of the Orchestra Association, who died last week.

LIBRARY NEEDS EQUIPMENT FUND

Completion of New Building Creates Necessity for $1000.00.

$545 GIVEN TO DATE

The Narberth Community Library is planning now to move into its new quarters in the new Community Building on the playground. The new structure is rapidly nearing completion and will in all probability be ready for occupancy not later than the end of April.

But, before the move can actually be made—in fact, before the Library Association can even complete its plans for the transfer—a fund of $1000 must be raised to provide the required equipment for the new library. By equipment is meant only the necessary shelving, desks, tables, etc., required to make the new library quarters a practical, working institution. Unfortunately the original fund which made possible the construction of the building made no provision for the library equipment.

Thus the work of raising the money necessary to provide this equipment has devolved upon the Community Library Association, the organization of citizens which now has complete control and management of the library.

Residents of Narberth and vicinity are, therefore, being asked to contribute toward this $1000 fund. A number have already made generous gifts, which at the time of writing total $545. But there still remain approximately $500 to be raised. As soon as the contributions reach $1000 the library will know exactly where it stands, and will then be in a sound position to proceed with all the necessary plans for moving into the new building. But until the $1000 is assured, the library finds itself in a somewhat embarrassing position of "betwix and between." It is a thoroughgoing community institution, self-sustaining so far as the buying of new books and running expenses are concerned, and is rendering to the people of Narberth and vicinity a service that is widening its scope and becoming more helpful every day, especially to school children and college students. Very shortly the new Community Building will have been completed and the library quarters in the centre of the building will be ready for occupancy.

In the meanwhile a number of Narberth citizens have said in the most emphatic way that the library shall have the new equipment necessary and have it at the earliest possible date so that the moving into the new and more ample quarters shall not be delayed after the Community Building is finished. These citizens and their contributions follow:

Trotter, Jr., treasurer, and mail to Mr. Trotter at his residence, No. 209 Woodside avenue, Narberth. Or checks or cash contributions may be left with the librarian in charge at the library in the Y. M. C. A. Building any weekday afternoon, except Saturday, between 3 and 5 o'clock, or any Friday afternoon, between 7 and 9 o'clock.

A. J. LOOS: AN APPRECIATION

Mr. Loos was the chief architect of Narberth's moral and intellectual structure. He came on the scene in the beginnings of the borough, and the latter progressed very largely according to his plans and specifications. It was a town of magnificent home gardening during world war scarcities because he was a sower who went out to sow; its people love music and have music because he loved music and had music; it is hospitable to art because he ever had the artistic temperament; he was a pioneer in its splendid community spirit; the old Y. M. C. A. was a tragic failure only because the residents of the borough could never quite attain to his own municipal generosity and unselfishness, and in the excellence of its schools and the fervor of its church life very much is due to him. All this is particularly true of the early days; of course, he gave way to other leaders as age crept on.

The largeness of his contributions to the community life of Narberth has usually been missed because of the modesty of the man, but his own gentleness, which made him great, was a chief factor in making Narberth the really unusual community that it is. There is a community centre, there is a Narberth Park, there is an "Our Town," there are a great many good things in Narberth because Augustus J. Loos lived in it.

Friendship is one of the most priceless privileges on earth, and his was a rare friendship to possess. The 17-minute cameraderies on the Pennsy electric trains between Narberth and Broad street will always be prized memories of the one who is attempting this very inadequate tribute. It was during one of these that Mr. Loos drew aside the curtains which veiled his heart, and told the story of how he had fought his way past honest doubts into convictions of spiritual verities. This and similar conversations were of course too sacred to unfold in detail, but one thing which he said might be mentioned as being perhaps helpful to other men similarly situated. It was a sort of grand follow-up of conversations, some personal, others public, to the extent of having taken place in the Men's Bible Class of the church which we both attended. The subject in mind is the efficacy of the atonement of Christ and of the statement that "there is none other name given under Heaven among men whereby we must be saved." Mr. Loos said something like this: "I know it is a low ground upon which to stand, and I trust that it is but the lowest plane upon which I stand and that I have attained to higher levels, but it is playing safe, it is taking no risk to say to ourselves that if this teaching is not true, nothing is lost; and if it is true, everything is gained."

Mr. Loos was a constant attendant upon the Men's Bible Class in the Presbyterian Church, and his questions always kept the teaching upon a high level. The lesson could not be commonplace with him in the class. Naturally he had a logical mind, which was trained at Cornell, and developed in New York journalism. He liked psychology and often introduced the subject into the lesson when it was appropriate. One of the most interesting lessons we ever had was that in which his question drew out the fact that there is a very definite Bible psychology, which includes spirit, soul and body. The latter is that thing by which we sense things, the material universe; the soul is that by which we sense ourselves, and the spirit that by which we sense God.

The incident was being related in class one day of a father who confessed that he believed one of his boys had been taken from earth to Heaven as a lesson in discipline for himself, the father, whereupon Mr. Loos remarked: "Don't you think God was pretty hard upon the lad?" God was—and that was the tragedy of the whole thing, though the compensation for the dead boy was brought out in the discussion, for if St. Paul's teaching be true, "to die is gain." It was further developed in that lesson that the statement "precious in the sight of the Lord is the death of his saints," has been translated by a great scholar, "Costly in the eyes of Jehovah is death to his men of kindness," the meaning of which seemed to be that it was at a terrible cost to the Creator and Eternal King that depriving of earth of a choice human life that might bless it as a Thomas Edison or an Abraham Lincoln or a David Livingstone, and all that deprivation in order to discipline a member of the family of God, in this instance that earthly parent who was missing the mark through disobedience and sin. Mr. Loos never did seem to be thoroughly converted to this view of the matter; his great heart of sympathy lined up alongside of that little lad cheated by sin out of his human chances. The jury of readers can take the case.

Mr. Loos gave liberally both to the community and to the church of the material stores with which God had blessed him, but the best of it was that he "first gave his own self" but almost always in a modest way. His violin was an appreciated part of the Sunday school orchestra, and he spent his life in Narberth as one of the trustees of his church. With the same genius which made his own business a success, he invariably saw the finances of the struggling little church through in its beginnings, and even well on its later years, and until the very end of his life he was an indispensable counselor there. He was even interested in the improvements which have largely made over the old church into a new one, and it was possible to make these attractive additions because of what he had so largely done in the past to make the old church what it was.

There used to stand in front of the old church a sturdy poplar whose emerald foliage tempered the sunshine that filtered through the stained glass windows into the sacred edifice, or shaded the laughing children as they filed down the steps. But the splendid tree fell before the ax. Its top had often been bent before the storms of winter, but it never succumbed except to the ax which got it out of the way of the new architecture. When the old structure was swallowed up in the new, the old tree went with it. In the passing of Mr. Loos there seems to be a sort of sad harmony, a pathetic appropriateness with the fall of the aged poplar. The grand old tree and the grander old man have kept step with the exit of the old church. Good by—all three.

HOWARD A. BANKS.

AN APPRECIATION

To the Editor of Our Town:

The passing of Augustus J. Loos removed from our community one of those rare human beings of whom there are, in these days, all too few—not especially in Narberth—but in the world at large. Viewed from any angle Mr. Loos was an ideal citizen. Likewise, he was a generous and kindly man. But of all his many fine qualities, the one that often appealed most strongly to those who knew him best was the genuine sincerity with which he always gave of his time, talents and money to every worthy cause. When A. J. Loos said he would do "this" or "that," you knew that he was "doing" or "giving" out of the fullness of his heart, and expected nothing in return. There was never the least suggestion of "trading favors" in anything that he did, and one is more than half convinced that if there were more people in the world like A. J. Loos there would not be nearly so much justice in George Bernard Shaw's famous statement to the effect that the "only trouble with Christianity is that it has never been tried."

QUOTA CARD PARTY

The quota card party, which will be held on February 23, in the Y. M. C. A., is intended to raise a part of the quota which must be paid by the local League of Women Voters to the County League. The larger body, in turn, must pay its quota to the State, which supports the National League.

This interlocking system requires that every unit pay its share; hence it is of the utmost importance that the local group meet its quota.

The FIRESIDE

Mr. and Mrs. J. Raymond Sharp, of 19 Woodside avenue, entertained at bridge last Saturday. The guests were: Mr. and Mrs. Arthur G. Birkhead, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph W. Gibbons, Mr. and Mrs. D. H. SALESMEN!

The era of automatic oil heating is here! The oil burning industry offers greater opportunities for the present and future than any other field of endeavor.

We are the pioneers and the leaders of this great industry. A thoroughly proved product, with hundreds of satisfied local users. Eight years on the national market. Approved by the underwriters laboratories and all authorities governing oil-burning installation.

Due to the overwhelming demand for our equipment, we need more salesmen on the Main Line.

We must have high caliber men of unquestionable integrity who are desirous of making a permanent connection where the returns and advancement will only be limited by their ability and effort.

Flosters need not apply. If you live on the Main Line and are now employed and making a success in your present work, let us show you the possibilities for a greater future in an industry which is destined to be second only to that of the automobile.

All information received will be kept in strict confidence.

Phone or write for appointment with Mr. Bromund, District Manager, at Narberth 1784, or Buckley-Scott, Inc. 717 North Broad street, Philadelphia, Poplar 5600 between 4 and 5 P. M. Monday and Tuesday.

THE COST

The cost of dry cleaning clothes is very slight in comparison to the benefits that accrue. Many a dress or suit—his or hers—that has been practically discarded can be made to serve satisfactorily if we renovate it. It is fashionable nowadays to make your clothes serve you for more than one season.

THIS IS TO THE LADY OF THE HOUSE

A Bank account is particularly valuable to the Housekeeper.

It saves those petty annoyances so often concurrent with the payment of your household bills—making change, asking for a receipt, being sure you have the "cash on hand."

The little stub on your check-book will tell you plainly "how much" and "where" the money went; the neatly designed check, easily filled in and signed, will be a pleasure to dispense. Payment by check is a reliable, dignified method of settling your obligations—and a sure proof that they have been met.

COTTER'S MARKET

As the Radio Announcer says: "This is Station WEA, New York City, presenting the weekly Ever Ready Hour Entertainment." So we might say: "This is Station C. M., Narberth, Pennsylvania, broadcasting and presenting a weekly program in Dependable Groceries and Meats," the price advantages of which is "Music" to the ears of any housekeeper who may be "listening in" for prices with which to meet the keen competition of the day. Prices for the week only—February 20th to 26th, inclusive.

A man gave orders for furnishing a new house, and specified he wanted neither a museum nor a furniture store—he wanted a real home. When you are putting out specifications for your needs in Groceries and Meats stipulate that you want neither private brands nor credit prices, but real value on a close cash basis. Such a "home" for your Grocery orders may be best had right here at Cotter's Market in Narberth.

SERVICE IS SUBJECT

Of Speakers at Rotary Club Luncheon Tuesday Afternoon.

The ideal of service as the basis of all worthy enterprise was the subject of E. Stanley Bowers, speaker at the luncheon of the Bala-Cynwyd-Narberth Rotary Club at the Cynwyd Club Tuesday. Mr. Bowers is the president of the Philadelphia Rotary Club.

Reverend George Emerson Barnes, pastor of the Overbrook Presbyterian Church and organizer of the local club, was another talker. He stressed the point of a business man putting service in his business above self. "Many men wait to do good in the world until they are ready to retire," he said. "Rotary believes in doing good as you go along and not waiting until you are ready to depart from this world."

George M. Painter, a member of the Philadelphia Rotary, was another guest at the luncheon.

"SCOUT WEEK" OBSERVED BY HIGH SCHOOL BOYS

Classes Book Assembly to Middle of April—Quintet Loses.

In the Lower Merion assembly hall, Thursday morning of last week, the Boy Scouts of the high school gave a program commemorating "Scout Week."

Led through the devotional exercises by Miss Mildred Coorthern, the Scouts opened their program with snappy bugle calls by Thomas Libbey. Raymond Rudronff then proceeded with "Ranks of Scouting," followed by Alexander Fleming, who spoke on "The History of Scouting." Jack Foster closed the program by reading a composition, "Scouting in the School."

Then through the efforts of several seniors John P. Jones opened a Lincoln program, in memory of "Old Honest Abe." His topic was "A Few of the Less Known Details of Lincoln's Life." Miss Catherine Timlin was the second speaker and recited Lindsay's "Abraham Lincoln Walks at Midnight." Miss Betty McDowell finished the exercises by reading "A Chinese Student's View of Lincoln as a Hero."

More Assembly Programs.

A drive by the Student Council to live up assembly programs has been started, and already many classes have responded, booking assembly privileges up into the middle of April. A few speakers are included in the programs, to vary as much as possible the entertainment.

Tuesday morning's assembly had current events as its chief attraction. A talk was given by Miss "Roddy" Gray on "The Clergy's Attitude Towards Prohibition." Charles Sherman stated many facts about the coal strike settlement and delved into past strikes, comparing them with the last shut-out, which was the longest in history.

The Maroon and White basketball team lost a tough one when it was rudely jolted last Friday by West Chester High, in the West Chester cage, by a score of 32 to 23. Zimmerman's quintet played championship basketball and smartly outplayed the Ardmore lads with their swift passing attack. An off night and a hoodoo glaring at them seems "Alibi Al's" version of the Lower Merion quintet's defeat, but even at that West Chester never had a free hand and always had to keep stepping to remain in the limelight.

Tonight, when the Ardmore dribblers meet Upper Darby, at home, there will probably be a decided change in the line-up.

Norristown continues to lead the league, with Lower Merion and West Chester in a tie for second place. Only a spill handed by West Chester and Lower Merion would bring the Royal Blue and White five off its perch for a triple tie. There's a good possibility of that happening, and, if so, an interesting play-off would ensue. If something in that order should occur perhaps Norristown wouldn't be so fond of "platter dinners."

ASK CO-OPERATION

In Campaign Against Tent Caterpillar—Association Active.

A campaign against the tent caterpillar is now being waged by the Main Line Citizens' Association. Literature urging co-operation in its destruction was distributed this week.

"The eggs of the tent caterpillar are laid on the smaller twigs of the apple and wild cherry and other trees, in masses a half inch in length and about one-sixteenth of an inch thick," says the circular. The eggs are inclosed in a gelatinous-like material which has a shining metallic lustre. Most of the egg masses will be found on wild cherry, and once they are recognized and known it is easy to spy them. The masses should be cut off and burned, and if you have no use for the wild cherry bush that may also be destroyed. The eggs of the tent caterpillar are hatching now, and will disclose the caterpillars in April or early May, and start to make the tents. Each egg mass destroyed before hatching period in the spring will mean the destruction of 300 caterpillars.

"An immense amount of good may be accomplished in the winter time by collecting the egg-masses. This is infinitely more effective than spraying, and costs nothing, besides affording valuable exercise in the open."

Further information may be obtained through the Main Line Citizens' Association.

What ST. MARY'S LAUNDRY Means TO THE MAIN LINE

Hundreds of homes are relieved of family washing cares each week—a day's time saved for each home—many years of leisure, youth and health are given to the women along the Main Line.

A few years ago the laundry was exclusively a shirt and collar business—today St. Mary's Laundry not only cares for the entire bundle, but it cares for it in exactly the way the patron desires.

To make laundry service accessible to every family St. Mary's Laundry has spent large sums of money in the best of equipment.

Because of the wide variety of services St. Mary's Laundry has become the Wash Day Servant of hundreds of Main Line families.

St. Mary's Laundry offers services to fit every family's budget—all ironed services, partially ironed services—services in which the clothes are returned damp to be ironed at home. You have all these to choose from.

BALA CLUB LEADER DIES IN HOSPITAL

Operation Fatal to Mrs. J. S. Stephenson. Prominent in Township.

HEAD OF WOMAN'S CLUB

Mrs. J. Samuel Stephenson, of 115 City Line, Bala, died in the Hahnemann Hospital Wednesday night after an operation performed Tuesday. She was 58 years of age. Identified with nearly every activity of Bala-Cynwyd, and prominent in township affairs, Mrs. Stephenson was one of Lower Merion's best known women.

She was president of the Woman's Club of Bala-Cynwyd, secretary of the Southeastern Federation of Women's Clubs, chairman of the Red Cross work for her district and an active member of the Auxiliary of St. John's Church. She was also active in the Needlework Guild.

Mrs. Stephenson was the only woman member of the Lower Merion Board of Health, having been the first woman to hold that position in the township.

She originated the plan for a building fund and memorial library for the Woman's Club and was largely instrumental in carrying the financial drive through to its successful conclusion.

Mrs. Stephenson had resided at the City Line address nearly 20 years. She was born in Philadelphia, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Stevenson. She is survived by her husband, a wool merchant of Philadelphia; three children, Mrs. Henry Kelly, Jr., of Bala-Cynwyd; Mrs. Edward Legge, of Boston, and Mr. Samuel Stephenson, Jr., a student at Lafayette College.

Funeral services will be held Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock at St. John's Church. Rev. Henry A. F. Hoyt and Rev. A. E. Clattenburg will officiate. Interment, which will be private, will be at Westminster Cemetery.

FIVE CLUBS APPLY FOR FRANCHISES IN LEAGUE

There was no hesitancy Monday in accepting both the Knights of Columbus and the Ardmore Autocar because these teams, though both from the same community, represent different crowds and in no way interfere with each other.

If an Oakmont team were formed, however, it might weaken the Caseys, as many of the players on that nine last year came from Oakmont and South Ardmore. Another Bryn Mawr team might also weaken the Preston A. A.

Regardless of the number of clubs there will be an open territory along the Main Line for league members to draw upon. This means that a player need not live in the community for which he plays. Last year there was a "closed territory" rule, but this was evaded by a series of exchanges which the league permitted club managers to make.

The territory rule was the only action taken by the league at its meeting Monday. Other preparations for the season, which will open the latter part of May, were held up until the March meeting, when a more thorough representation of clubs is expected. Election of officers will take place at that time.

Clubs to Organize.

Most of the clubs will meet to organize within the next few weeks. Narberth is expected to hold a meeting the latter part of the month to elect officers and a manager. At this session Bill Crowell and Fred Walzer, perennial opponents for the Narberth managership, are again expected to oppose each other.

Crowell, who is a nationally-known football official, won last year; Walzer copped the honor the year previous.

If Walzer sticks to his declaration that he will not pilot Cynwyd again, this club will be hard put to find another skipper. Cynwyd will also be faced with the problem of securing financial backing. Last year it was financed by the Active Members Club of the fire company, but whether this organization will again back the team is doubtful as it lost money last season. The newly-formed Bala-Cynwyd-Narberth Rotary Club may be sought as a backer but, because of the Narberth membership in this organization, there is doubt that the move will be successful.

The club representatives present at the league meeting in Ardmore Monday were President Harry J. Mosteller, of Ardmore; Jack Morris, secretary; Charles Harnden, of Narberth; E. T. Dilworth, of Preston A. A.; Joe Cullinan, of Ardmore K. of C.; William Rogers, of Bryn Mawr; Fitzgerald, of Berwyn, and Harry Hoffman, of the Autocar.

Jimmy Dykes, of Connie Mack's Athletics, who has been actively associated with Preston A. A., also attended, but left early to broadcast a talk on baseball from WABQ, the Haverford College radio station.

SIDEWALK DELINQUENTS CALLED BEFORE BURGESS

Citizens Summoned for Violations of Snow Shoveling Ordinance.

About 12 citizens were summoned to Borough Hall on Monday evening to answer before the Burgess to charges by the police that they had neglected to clean the snow off their sidewalks within the time limit or to the degree required by the snow-shoveling ordinance. Nearly all of them had an excuse of some kind, but as all manifest a willingness to comply in the future, no fines were imposed.

No one who had previously been summoned for the same offense had slipped again and been included in the present group of defendants. One warning, without a fine, has apparently been sufficient in the past and, as the purpose is to get the walks shoveled, rather than to collect fines, the hearing undoubtedly accomplished the desired end.

The attitude of nearly all of the defendant citizens was one of helpful understanding and approval of the effort of the borough authorities to enforce the ordinance. One man, admitting his fault, said: "I am entirely willing to pay a fine." There was one, who by past experience might have been expected most to understand and approve the conscientious efforts of the borough authorities to enforce the ordinance. He was indignant because he had been summoned and said he thought it was "pretty small potatoes." Burgess Frye quite properly and emphatically resented, for himself officially and for the policeman, such an attitude and expression and a fine seemed to be impending in that case. The "leading citizen" soon saw his error, apologized and the incident was closed.

The Burgess pointed out to all present that the era of the snow plow is ended; that on the whole the walks of Narberth have been better cleaned this year than ever before, because shoveling is more efficient than plowing and that, while leniency was his rule and practice, a complete list of all summonses would be kept and a fine and full costs would be imposed on all second offenders.

The ordinance requires that the walks shall be cleaned to the full width of the pavement within 24 hours after the end of a snow storm.

Citizen Objects.
 In this connection the editor received this week a letter, expressing one opinion on the new plowing policy. As it came from one of the borough's oldest and most loyal citizens, it is provoked from the "letters" column:

"I think the borough had better buy a new horse and let the old plow do the first work on our sidewalks. Left to individual effort the work is only half done—a mere cowpath being cleaned. Then the use of the big plow in the street only piles the snow in the gutter on to the curbs, making it almost impossible to cross the streets. Please, Mr. Road Master, just clean the crossings and restore the sidewalk plow, and we pedestrians will thank you. Automobiles can level the mid-road soon enough."

Junior High School News.

On Friday, February 12, the school was entertained by an interesting program commemorating Lincoln's birthday. "Memories of Tad Lincoln's Father," read by Martha Maxwell, and "Lincoln's Inside Life," read by Vestus Spindler, were very entertaining. These were followed by the "Gettysburg Address," recited by George Trimble, from the sixth grade, and "Lincoln Walks at Midnight," recited by Ray Wilson and Anne Marshall. The program closed with a series of bugle calls given by Fred Bates, of the Wynnewood Boy Scout Troop.

The freshman class gave a most enjoyable dance in the auditorium on Friday evening, February 12. A feature dance, given by Evelyn Jeffries and Bernice Piercy, was enjoyed by all and an exhibition of the "Charleston," given by Ruth Hopkins and Eleanor Michaelson was very entertaining. Ellen Pray and Robert Vallette won the elimination dance. At 11 o'clock declaring that they had had a wonderful time. The chaperones were Mrs. Cleveland, Mrs. Hopkins, Mrs. Smith, Mrs. Lane and Miss Pray. The teachers who attended were Misses Church, Eames, Eckbert and Fricke; Mrs. Elsbree, Mr. and Mrs. Oerlein, Mr. and Mrs. Burnham and Mr. Wilson.

Last Saturday evening the Kiyung Camp Fire Girls were chosen to represent the Camp Fire Girls of Philadelphia in a play given at the Y. M. and Y. W. H. A. It was called "The Alphabet Tragedy." The several players acted their parts to perfection and scored a big success.

On Tuesday our boys had a basketball game with Montgomery Day School. The final score was 46-32 in favor of the Montgomery boys.

YOUNG PEOPLE'S LEAGUE HOLDS FIRST SOCIAL

Valentine Day Fifty Observed by Young Church Folks.

The first social activity of the newly-formed League of Narberth Young People's Societies took place February 12, in the Presbyterian Church. Having already set an exceptionally high standard for our devotional meetings, we were reminded that again an equally high standard has been set for our social work.

The Valentine social was a great success. Only the untiring efforts of Raymond Austin and his helpers made this possible. The social room was artistically decorated with hearts, red streamers and other appropriate novelties, which upon sight would give one the real atmosphere and spirit of good fun.

Many games were played and prizes offered to the winners. (They were good prizes, too—ask Baird Caldwell). One prize was to be awarded to the church producing the best stunt. This prize was won for the Presbyterian Church by the young talented comedians, the Walsh brothers and Baird Caldwell. They were the "shining stars" of the evening. Gerald Sperry made a great attempt at proving to his audience that he could balance a newspaper on his nose, but the newspaper, being stubborn and not his favorite paper, he postponed his trick until the next social.

Balloons, confetti and autograph books were among the novelties enjoyed.

Last but far from being least were the refreshments. They were plentiful and of the best, and needless to say, they were enjoyed by all.

The evening was ended in a most beautiful and spiritual atmosphere. The young people gathered in an informal manner around the piano and sang heartily many of their favorite hymns. What a splendid ending for a social evening! The young people resolved that a more pleasant evening could not have been spent anywhere.

The league wishes to thank publicly its president, James McCutcheon, and Raymond Austin, a social leader, for their untiring efforts in making the social a success.

Watch for the announcement of our next devotional meeting!

PATRIOTIC NIGHTS

Senator Fletcher W. Stites will address a special meeting for men in the Methodist Church on Sunday evening, February 21, at 7.45 o'clock. This meeting is designed for the men of the community and all are cordially invited. Patriotic songs.

On Tuesday evening, February 23, at 8 o'clock, the Good Fellowship Club of the same church will hold its monthly meeting. This will be a patriotic one at which Senator Fletcher W. Stites, Burgess Henry A. Miller and Dr. A. H. Hess will be the speakers. Dr. Hess, of the P. R. Y. M. C. A., became famous as a drummer boy of the Civil war, and made a remarkable record in the sale of Liberty bonds during the world war with the aid of his drum. He will give a demonstration of his skill on the snare drum, and will speak on "Principles of American Citizenship."

Added attractions will be the Presbyterian Sunday School Orchestra and a male chorus. Chef Krauskopf, as usual, will see that no one goes hungry.
